Restore Cronos Testnet (Add a custom network)

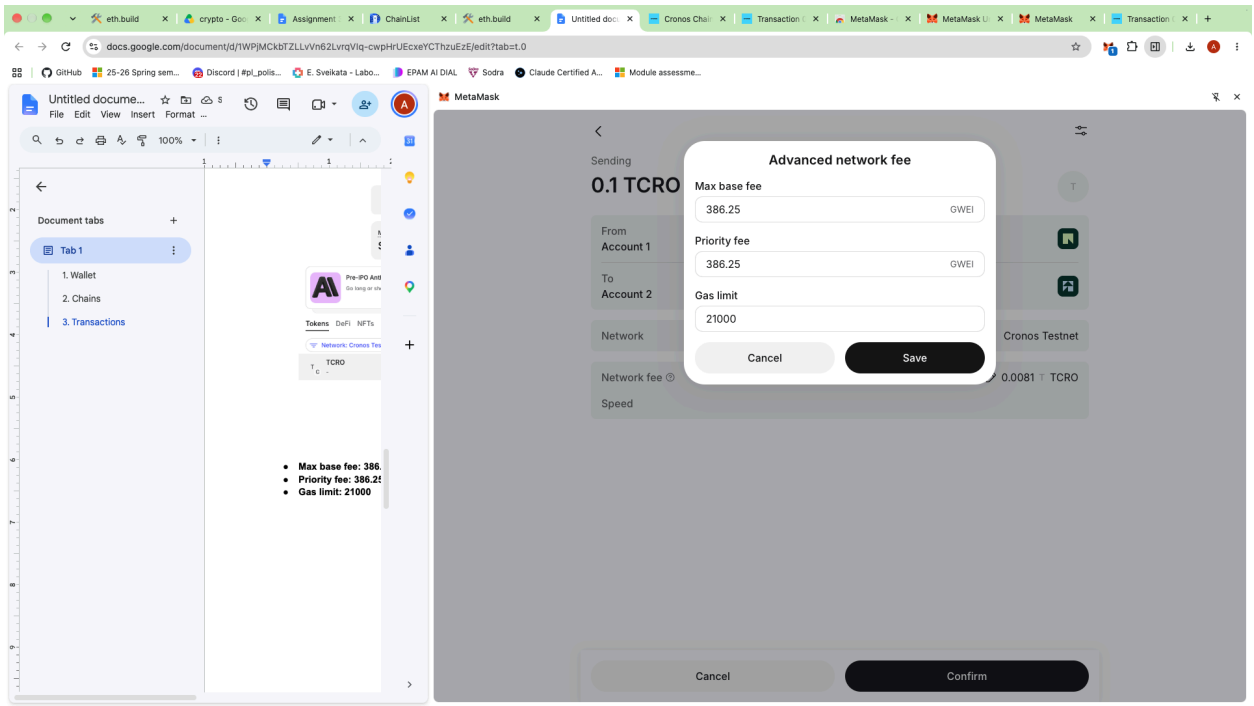

I first connected Cronos Testnet via chainlist.org, but the suggested third-party RPC did not respond. After reinstalling MetaMask, I added the network manually with the official Cronos RPC (https://evm-t3.cronos.org, Chain ID 338, TCRO).

MetaMask does not allow a zero fee, so I set 0.000001 Gwei for both the max base fee and the priority fee.

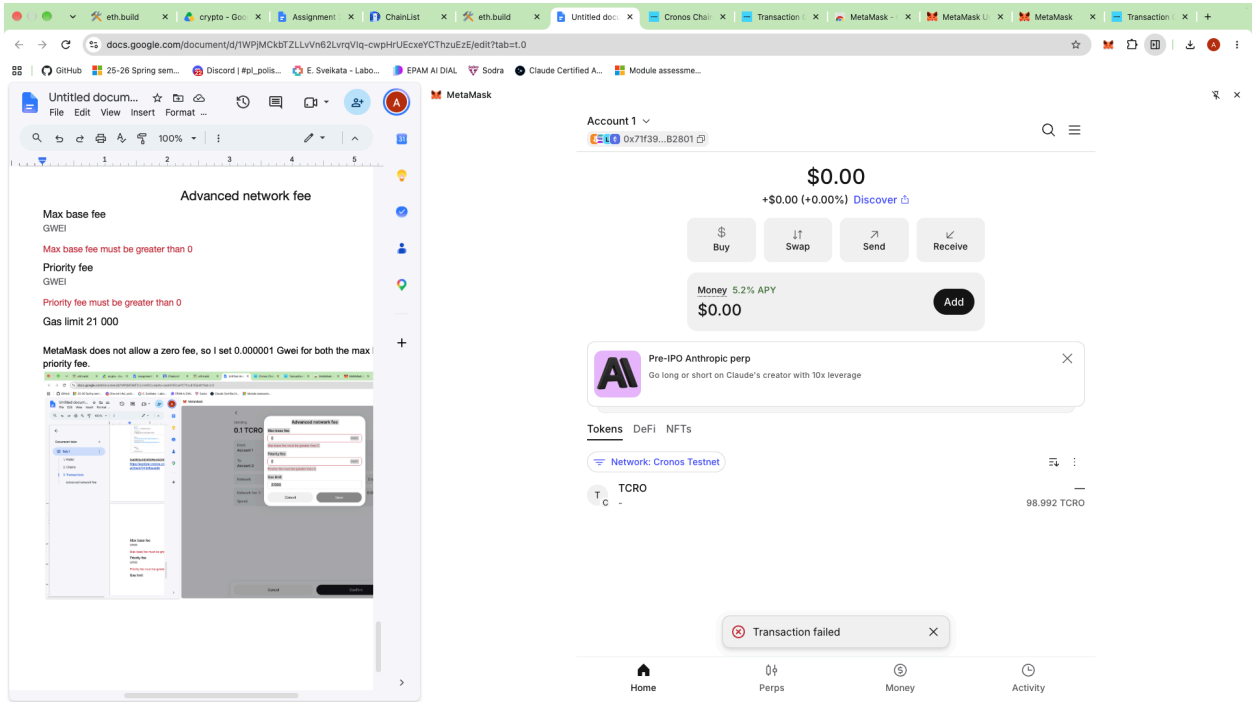

Zero / near-zero fee attempt

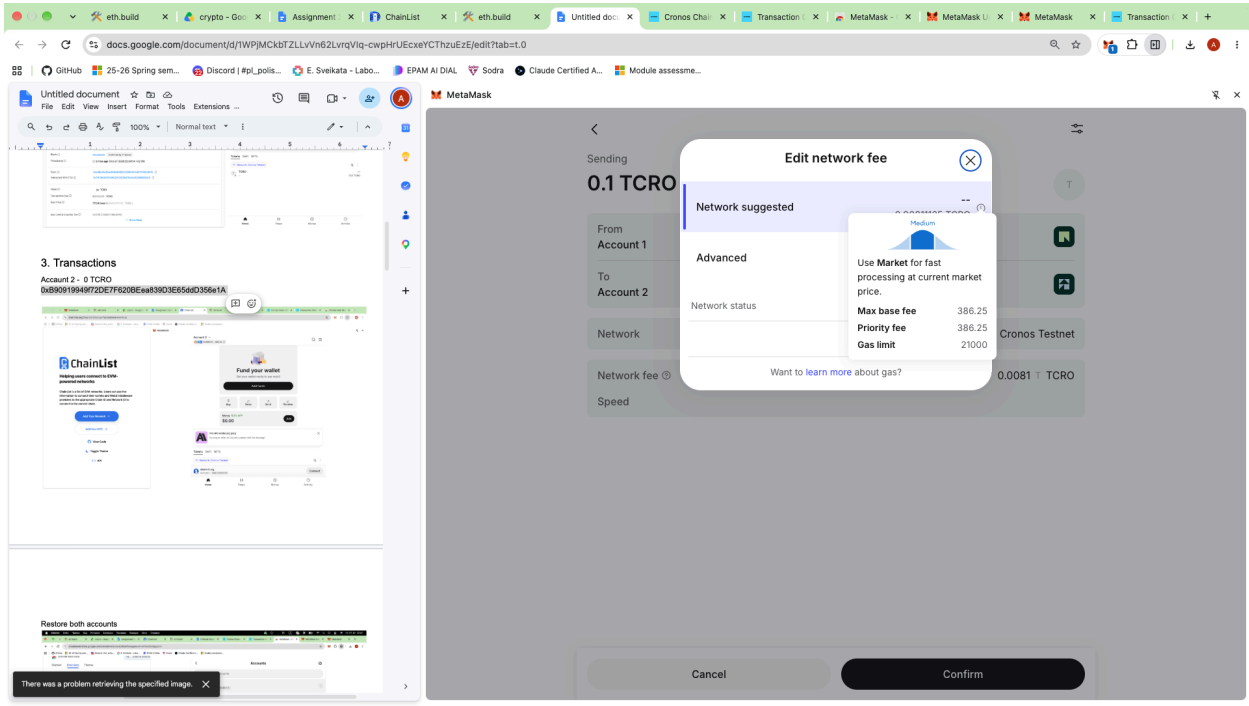

MetaMask does not allow a zero network fee: both fields show an error (“Max base fee must be greater than 0”, “Priority fee must be greater than 0”). So I set the minimum possible values instead: 0.000001 Gwei for both the max base fee and the priority fee (gas limit 21,000).

The transaction failed immediately and was not included in a block. My balance stayed at 98.992 TCRO, so no fee was charged. The Cronos network rejects transactions whose gas price is far below the network minimum (the market price was about 386 Gwei).

The near-zero fee transaction was rejected before it reached the network (no transaction ID)

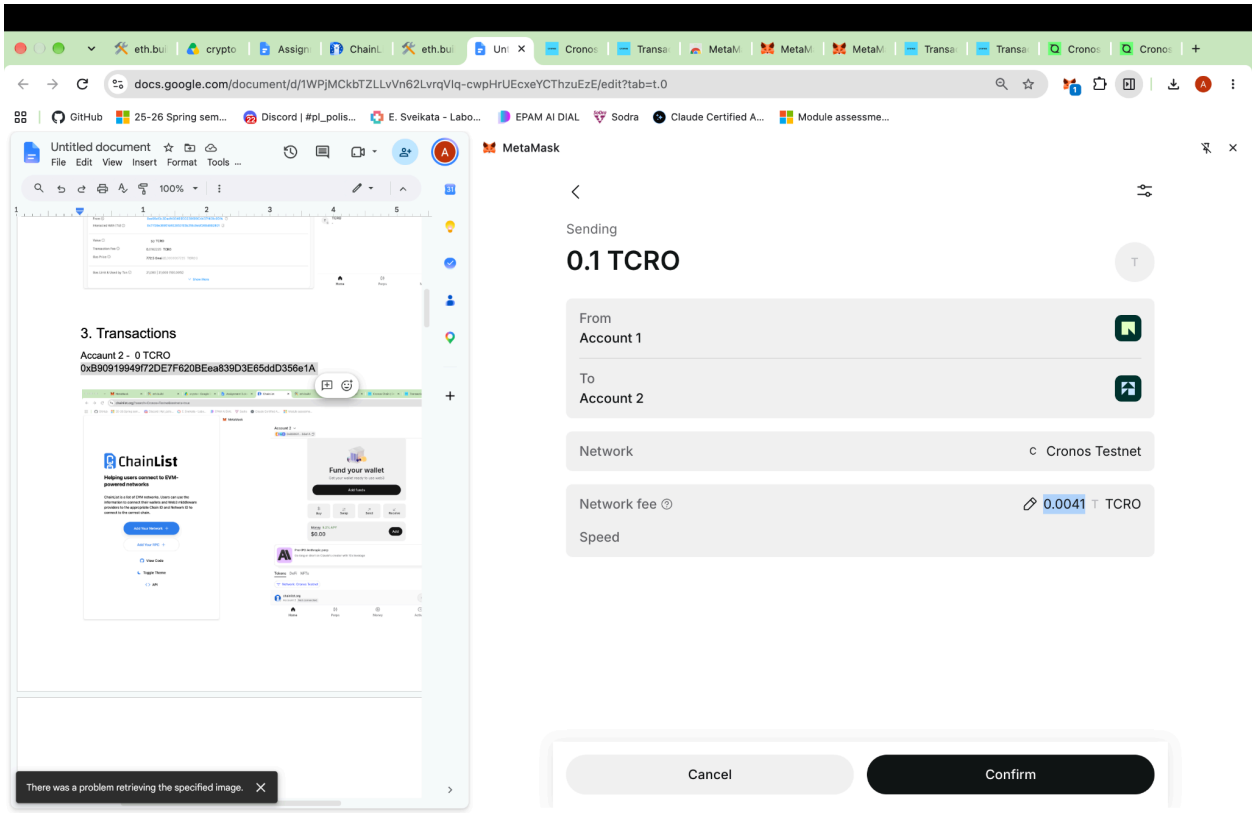

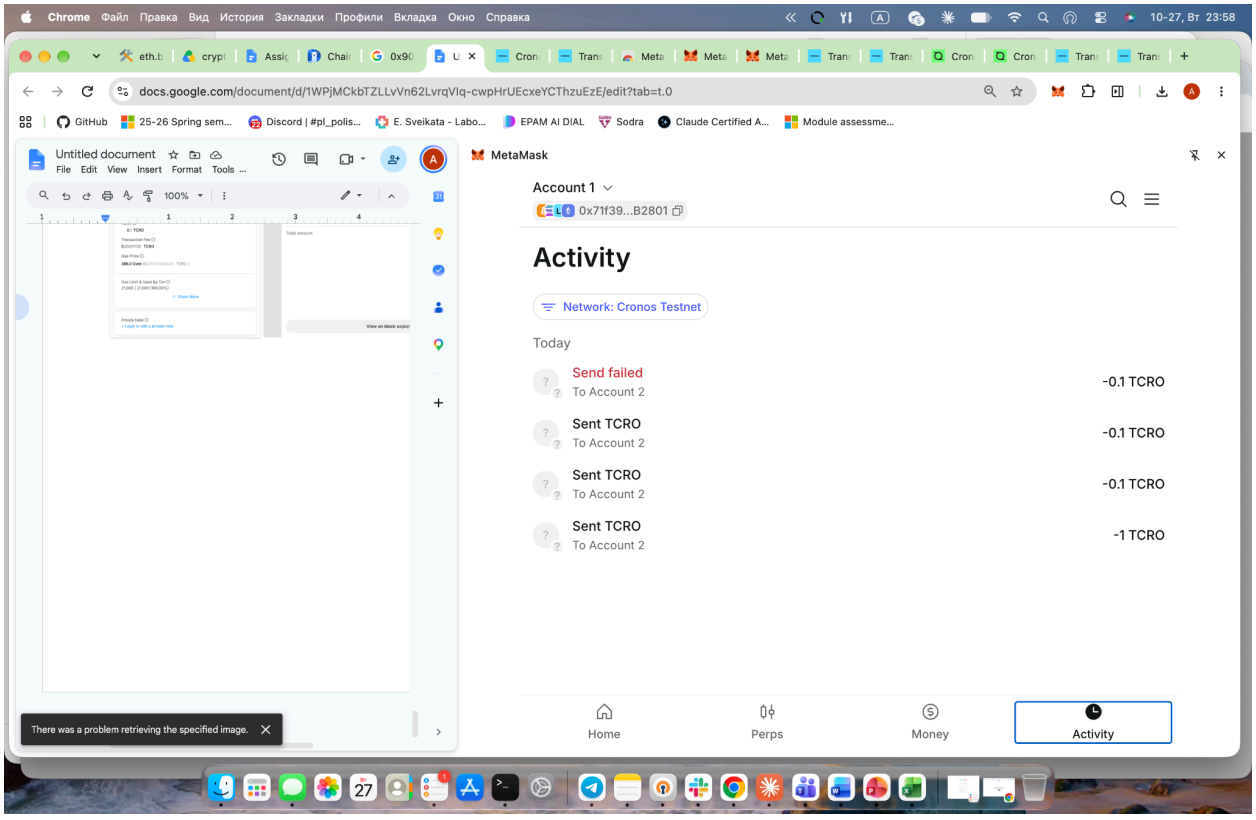

1/2 Market (386.25 ÷ 2): 193.13

> I tried to send a transaction with 1/2 of the Market fee: I set the priority fee to 193.13 Gwei, but the max fee stayed at the Market value (386.25 Gwei). The transaction was confirmed and charged at 386.3 Gwei (see the explorer link). The network base fee on Cronos Testnet is 375 Gwei, so the gas price cannot go below that: when I lowered the max fee itself to 1/2 or 1/10 of Market (193.13 or 38.63 Gwei), the transaction failed immediately.

On Cronos Testnet the base fee is 375 Gwei, close to the Market price (386.25 Gwei). Transactions with the max fee lowered to 1/10 or 1/2 of Market (38.63 or 193.13 Gwei) were rejected immediately and ended as Failed, because they were below the network base fee. A transaction with a lowered priority fee but the unchanged max fee (386.25 Gwei) was still processed at 386.25 Gwei. Unlike the assignment's example, this testnet does not process underpriced transactions later.

The lowest gas price accepted by Cronos Testnet equals its base fee, 375 Gwei. With max fee 375 Gwei and priority fee 0.0001 Gwei, the transaction was confirmed at 375 Gwei with a fee of 0.007875 TCRO, compared to 0.0081 TCRO at the Market price (386.25 Gwei). Any max fee below 375 Gwei (1/10 or 1/2 of Market) led to a failed transaction.

This MetaMask version has no separate “Activity log” section, so I attached screenshots of the transaction details instead.

375 Gwei is the base fee of Cronos, the minimum price the network accepts. The Mainnet “Slow”, “Average” and “Fast” prices on Quicknode are the base fee plus a priority tip. On the testnet there is almost no load, so a transaction with no meaningful tip (375 Gwei) was still included in the next block
